

The Association for Continuing Higher Education-New England and Hesser College present:

Helping Adults Learn: Skillful Teaching in Today's College Classroom

Featuring internationally acclaimed scholar in adult education

Stephen Brookfield

Friday, September 25, 2009

SERESC Conference Center
29 Commerce Drive
Bedford, NH 03110

Working with adult learners in all their diversity of backgrounds and styles, and their different levels of preparedness, is a complex challenge. In this highly interactive workshop Stephen Brookfield will explore what we know about how adults learn and how we can encourage them to participate in classroom activities. He will focus particularly on active learning approaches and the need to structure these in ways that are clearly understood by learners. He will identify the characteristics of instructors that students appreciate and introduce several approaches that have worked with adults across a number of different settings including classroom and on-line modalities.

Program

9:30am-10:00am	Registration and Continental Breakfast
10:00am-10:15am	Welcome and Introductions
10:15am-12:00noon	Workshop, Part 1
12:00noon-12:30pm	Lunch
12:45-2:00pm	Workshop, Part 2

To register, please complete the attached registration form.

REGISTRATION FORM

ACHE New England Forum
Helping Adults Learn: Skillful Teaching in Today's College Classroom
Friday, September 25, 2009
SERESC Conference Center
29 Commerce Drive
Bedford, NH 03110

REGISTER EARLY – Please respond by Friday, September 4.

Name: _____ Phone #: _____

Title/Position: _____ Email: _____

College/School/Other: _____

Mailing Address/City/State/Zip: _____

FORUM Registration Fee: $89 per person

Send check or P.O. (or P.O. number) payable to: ACHE New England

Mail to: Mary V. Feathers
Attn.: ACHE New England
Center for Continuing Studies, U-4056
University of Connecticut
Storrs, CT 06269-4056

Email: mary.feathers@uconn.edu
Phone: (860) 486-5713
Fax: (860) 486-5221